1

Values are a guiding force for individual behavior.

2

Being aware of one's own values can help a leader prioritize organizational initiatives and make decisions aligned with those values

3

Those who demonstrate their values through leadership can inspire others to work with them.

4

Being aware of one's own values can help a leader decide if they want to work for a particular company.

5

Being aware of one's own values can help a leader articulate what they care about, why they care about it, and how their caring impacts the work they do.

For each question you just answered, write down the values that are being honored by each answer.

Look over all of your values lists. Which ones have been listed more than once? Make a list of all of the values seen 2 or more times. After each value, write the number of times it is seen in your lists.
